

Kyle Cattell

There are many things a person can do to make their life better. As a child you have to learn to work hard in everything you do. This teaches kids to not slack off in school or whenever they are given a task. The parents of a young student make a huge impact in their kid's lives. This leads to the children having heroes in their lives that will inspire and push their kids to be better at everything they do. Kids need to figure out what they like as they get older so they can know what they want to do for a living and if the child wants to go to college or not. Every young student needs goals to push them further in life.

My name is Kyle Cattell, and I was born in Kalamazoo, Michigan. I was born July 29th in 1997. My brother, Cody Cattell, is five years and seven months older, and I look up to him in every way. My Mom, Holly Cattell, works at Bronson Hospital as an accountant, and my dad, Michael, works as a sheriff deputy for Kalamazoo County. We have lived in the same house in Portage since a few months before I was born.

All through school I have always been more of a math kid. Once I got into high school, I have used my math while I have learned to become more involved in business. In the past I have been involved in March of Dimes Bread lift, and since I was seven years old I have played soccer, including playing four years for my high school. My worked also involves soccer, as I work at an indoor soccer facility called Soccerzone. I have now worked there for the past three years. I am involved with the concession where I utilize my math skills to handle money and appropriately talk to customers while safely constructing and distributing their food.

I have never really had that many difficult challenges in school, but in soccer I have had many. Ever since I was in middle school I have had really bad ankle injuries that have kept me out of the sport for up to four weeks at a time. I have had to spend a lot of time on the bench because of these injuries. I have not fully gotten past this injury yet, but I have worked a lot on strengthening my ankles that have helped me play every game this year without getting hurt. My biggest accomplishment would be getting a weighted 4.0 GPA my junior year. I worked really hard all year on homework and studying to get the highest grade I could, and it paid off with great grades.

In the next five years I will be working hard to get into college and graduate from whichever college I will be going to. I want to graduate with over a 3.0 GPA to try to get a good job when I am done with college. In ten years I would like to have a stable job in either accounting or something else in finance. I would like to have enough money to travel the world whenever I want. I would like to have a wife and two kids by then to come home from work and be really happy whenever I see them.

In conclusion, I am a very math and business orientated student with a great work rate and goals to push me in the future. A career in finance or business world would be where I want to end up in my career. I hope you have learned more about my in this autobiography.
